Jones Charged With Rape

Junior Jones, of 10 mile on Lost Creek, was arrested and lodged in Perry county jail this morning, according to the Sheriff's office and charged with attempted rape. The girl with her father came to the jail and preferred the charges against him. She was 13 years of age. According to reports the child's clothes was completely torn off.

Keefer To Speak At Camp Nathanael

It's for you—another Thanksgiving Conference for the whole family at Camp Nathanael. You will not want to miss the good preaching of Dr. Karl E. Keefer and the special music of the men's quartet from Bryan University, Dayton, Tennessee. Dr. Keefer is not only a gifted speaker but he is also an accomplished musician, teacher and an administrator. He is the Vice-President and Dean of Bryan

Dr. Keefer

University, which was founded in honor of William Jennings Bryan, often referred to as the "great commoner."

The conference opens with supper, 5:30 C.S.T., November 26 and will continue through breakfast Friday. There will be a Wednesday evening service as well as the three services on Thursday. "Thanksgiving" will be the theme of the conference and worship at the 10 o'clock hour on Thursday. There will be a surprise feature of music in this service.

A nursery for the little folk and a children's conference will be conducted during the adult services for your convenience and the spiritual benefit of your children. Mothers, think of it! No cooking! No children!

A traditional Thanksgiving dinner with turkey and all the trimmings will be served on Thursday. No charge will be made for the five meals and two nights lodging. Through the Lord's blessing upon the free-will offering, we trust the needs of the conference will be met.

Be sure to get in on this feast of good things!

Accepting voucher for $83,962.74 in payment of taxes by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, is Hugh Stanford, left, deputy sheriff, Perry County. C. W. Watson, L.N. trainmaster, right, is making the presentation. T. T. Yancy, L.N. inspector of police looks on. The L.N. presentation is the biggest single tax check received by Perry County.

Abner Barger Dies At Walkertown

Abner Barger, a resident of Walkertown for 32 years passed away on Nov. 8, 1958 at Miners Memorial Hospital, after a lingering illness.

Mr. Barger was born Feb. 23, 1884 at Brutus, Ky., in Clay county. He had long been a faithful member of the Petrey Memorial Baptist Church in Walkertown.

He was retired from the L&N Railroad, Feb. 17, 1954, after having served 31 years and 8 months. The Engle Funeral Home was in charge.

Statement by Bert T. Combs Relative to Joe Leary's Appointment as Campaign Manager for Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield.

"I am glad that Mr. Leary has come out in the open. I am glad it is now public that his influence in the Chandler Administration will continue during the campaign of Chandler's puppet candidate, Harry Lee Waterfield. The people of Kentucky will now have an opportunity to be on guard for another campaign of torturing the truth."

"While we see the hands of Waterfield, we will know that we hear the voice of Chandler and Leary when their candidate speaks."

"It's the same song—same dance—same director—same actors as in 1955. It's the same Chandler - Waterfield - Leary team on the field again. Their pious professions of good will and dedication to the public good merely serve as a cloak for an administration of hypocrisy, favoritism, and deceit."

"These three have saddled upon Kentucky the most expensive, corrupt, and selfish administration in our history. Their promises of 1955 have a unique record—almost broken."

"It is no secret that Mr. Leary's law practice has profited immeasurably during the Chandler - Waterfield reign. Leary is now gambling all on the hope that somehow Chandlerism can be forced upon the people of Kentucky another four years. I am convinced, however, the government at Frankfort should function for the people and not for private gain."

"Everyone remembers that while segments of the trucking industry, and as an adviser to Governor Chandler, Leary succeeded in pushing through the 1956 Legislature a bill which he, himself, wrote favorably to his clients. To secure passage of that Bill, Mr. Leary represented to the legislature that it would produce $1,800,000 the first year in revenue to the State. The record shows it actually produced only $316,152."

"In many respects during the Chandler Administration, Mr. Leary has out-Shermaned Sherman Adams. His performance, by comparison makes the Vicuna Coat look like a Khaki Jacket."

Daniel Chosen Chairman Chamber of Commerce Week

Mr. Dewey Daniel has been chosen Perry County Chairman for Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week—November 17-21.

The State Chairman of this special week to boost the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Thomas A. Ballantine of Louisville, in announcing the appointment of Chairman Daniel, urged all Perry County businessmen to cooperate with the local chairman during the time that Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week is in progress.

Mr. Ballantine asked all businessmen to consider seriously their financial support of the Kentucky Chamber in addition to participating in the program of the State Chamber that will help create better opportunities for our new generation.

Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week has been officially proclaimed by Governor A. B. Chandler to pay tribute to the Kentucky Chamber for the work it has done in bringing all forces in Kentucky together to develop more opportunities for Kentuckians through more manufacturing jobs, more tourist income, greater utilization of natural resources, expanded markets for agricultural products, and an increased interest in public affairs.

Other members of the local Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Week Committee are: L. O. Davis, Fred Bullard, Bill Gorman, and C. A. Zoellers.

George Combs, 62, Dies Suddenly

George Curtis Combs, 62 years of age and for 43 years a valued employee of the L&N Railroad Co., died at the Mount Mary Hospital early this morning. Although Mr. Combs had been in poor health, his death came as a severe shock to his immediate family and friends. Mr. Combs, had been on sick leave since August of this year from his job.

The deceased, a Mason, who also belonged to several of the branches of Masonry, was a member of the Highland Presbyterian Church at Guerrant, Ky. He is survived by his wife Pearl and one daughter, Mrs. Isaac Fugate, and one grand daughter, Jane Curtis Fugate. Also three sisters, Mrs. Jessie Amerine of Baltimore, Md.; Kate Combs of Fort Wright, Ky.; and Leola Combs, of Louisville, and one brother, Bill, of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral services will be held at 2:00 P. M., Wednesday, at the Presbyterian Church, with Reverends Ernest Stricklin and Bill Brown, officiating. Burial will take place in the Englewood Cemetery with Engle Funeral Home in charge.

Members of the Masonic Fraternity will be in charge of the graveside services.

Gasoline Explosion Damages Property

The Hazard Service Station, located on East Main Street, was the scene of an explosion at approximately 9:58 a.m., where a boy was cleaning the tile floor with gasoline.

Fire Chief Lawrence Sizemore, reported that the boy had poured some gasoline on the tile floor to clean it, when it exploded and blew out a plate glass window.

The fumes in the closed building were apparently ignited by a pilot light from a gas blower. Damage was from $250 to $300.

Chief Sizemore stressed that gasoline should never be used for any type of cleaning, for the simple reason it can become ignited by any type of electric motor, such as a water fountain, or soft drink cooler.

Editor Fred W. Luigart is ill

Fred W. Luigart, Jr., managing editor of The Hazard Herald is confined to his home with a severe case of flu. His services on The Herald for this issue are sorely missed, and we hope he recovers quickly and will be back with the staff again soon.

Two Students Get Scholarships

Announcement has been made by Radio Corporation of America, New York City, of the award of two scholarships to students at Eastern Kentucky State College.

Stanley Abner, junior, of Manchester, was granted $800 for his junior and senior years to complete his teacher training course in mathematics. William V. Clay, sophomore, of Hazard, received the award of $250 during his freshman year and also for his sophomore year. He plans to teach chemistry and mathematics.

Abner graduated from Clay County high school and attended Berea College in 1950-51 before entering military service. After his Army discharge in 1956 he entered Sue Bennett Junior College and transferred to Eastern in 1957. He will graduate in August, 1959. His point standing is 2.78 of a possible 3.0.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Abner, of Manchester. He and his wife, the former Freddie White, live in the Village on the campus of Eastern.

Clay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daley Clay, Allais Road, Hazard, and is a graduate of Hazard High School. He entered Eastern in September, 1957, and lives in Beckham Hall on the campus.

The recipient of the junior year award last year was Thomas S. Logsdon, of Springfield, who will graduate in June 1959. He received the grant of $800 to enable him to complete his college work in mathematics teacher training. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Logsdon, Lebanon Hill, Springfield.

J. B. Wells Announces For Lieutenant Governor

J. B. Wells, former State Commissioner of Rural Highways, announced his candidacy today for Lieutenant Governor.

Wells, who resigned the state post six weeks ago, said he would seek the No. 2 spot as a candidate in the Primary next May.

There has been speculation that Wells would be a candidate almost from the time he arrived in Frankfort to assume his duties in December 1955.

Elected Mayor of Paintsville four times before serving as Rural Highway Commissioner for the past three years, Wells said:

"I have traveled widely in every section of Kentucky and I feel I have an excellent chance to win."

"I think I know what the people of Kentucky want. I am a great believer in giving the people what they want rather than what someone thinks they should have. I always have subscribed to that theory of government and expect to continue to practice it."

"I feel my background of service has given me the broad experience necessary to qualify me for the office of Lieutenant Governor. Having been a Mayor, I recognize the needs and problems of Kentucky cities and their urban residents and, as Commissioner of Rural Highways, I have been closely associated with the desires and problems of rural Kentuckians.

"I feel that such service gives me a balanced conception of Kentucky's needs."

Wells was first elected Mayor of Paintsville at the age of 23, shortly after leaving the University of Kentucky.

He drew state-wide attention for his leadership in promoting civic improvements and became well known as one of Eastern Kentucky's most dedicated and aggressive leaders.

He served for a number of years as Vice-President of the Big Sandy Valley Association which was dedicated to the promotion of the canalization of the Big Sandy River and the improvement of the general welfare of Eastern Kentucky.

He was a member of the State Planning Board of Kentucky Bookmobile project and has served as Director of the American Legion's Bluegrass Boys State.

Wells, who is Vice-President of the Second National Bank of Paintsville, also operates a hardware business there.

He is a member of the Methodist Church and a Veteran of World War II.

He resides in Frankfort with his wife and children.

Former Hazard Man Relates Harrowing Experience Following Airplane Disaster In Mountains of Utah

According to an Associated Press release, the following story was related by Sfc. Reyno Feltner, formerly of Hazard. The story released on Sunday, Nov. 16, reads:

Hill Air Force Base, Utah — A Kentucky survivor of an eight-man parachute jump from a crippled airplane said Sunday he had just lain down to die in the snow when rescuers reached him.

As Sfc. Reyno Feltner, 36, Hazard, Ky., told his story in a hospital at this big air base, the tally of the eight chutists stood at two dead, two missing, and four rescued.

The two who died, while struggling through deep snow toward civilization, were S. Sgt. Ivan Probasco, 31, Buhl, Ida., and M-Sgt. Joseph A. Regan of Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

Still missing were the co-pilot, Lt. Donald B. Horn, 28, Andover, N. Y., and navigator, Capt. Donald Liggett 40 Indianapolis, Ind.

The plane commander, Capt. Harry O. Blount, 33, Great Falls, Mont., was found within a few hours after the men jumped in a storm just before dark Friday when their C-119 (Flying Boxcar) developed engine trouble.

The others, rescued Saturday night while the storm still raged, more than 24 hours after they jumped, were Feltner, S-Sgt. Walter P. Bigelow, 28, Ogden, Utah, and Cpl. Ray Copeland, 22, Entiat, Wash.

The weather cleared partially Sunday morning and helicopters and airplanes joined ground crews in a frenzied search over the mountains for Born and Liggett. One search official gave them a 50-50 chance—but temperatures were expected to drop to zero Sunday night.

The search area is over the El Monte Mountains, a spur of the rugged Wasatch Mountains, 30 to 40 miles east of this air base near Ogden, and about 50 to 70 miles northeast of Salt Lake City. The highest mountain in the area, Monte Cristo Peak, rises to 10,500 feet. Much of the rest of the area is between 8,000 and 9,000 feet.

The five noncoms all landed in a steep area known as Hells Canyon. Blount was found some distance to the west, in another drainage system. The search for Born and Liggett centered on the high divide between.

It was thought Saturday night the noncoms had all been rescued alive. It wasn't until searchers followed their trail back through the snow early Sunday morning that it was learned the two had died while fighting their way toward help.

Feltner told of his experiences from a hospital bed Sunday morning. He said he was alone and lost in the heavy storm. His companion, Reagan, had died in his arms.

Feltner said he prepared his death bed in the snow near a log and lay down. But then: "I saw a flash of light. I don't believe it and started to lay down again."

"I had to take one more look—and I saw it again. I hollered, and they (the rescuers) found me."

As the survivors told it, the five non coms got together soon after parachuting and decided that Copeland and Probasco should start down the canyon for help. They went some distance, and spent the night in a cave. By about 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Copeland said, Probasco "didn't feel too good. He lost control of his balance and was delirious. I helped him down the canyon, but he had lost his will to go on."

Meanwhile, Bigelow, Reagan, and Feltner decided to wait no longer. They started down but became separated. Bigelow found Copeland and Probasco, and they put Probasco under a tree. Copeland covered him with his wool jacket. That is where he died.

Bigelow and Copeland pushed on and reached a sheep herder's hut. The herder sent out word the men had been found and rescuers started into the canyon after them.

Feltner, limping behind all the others, said he caught up with Reagan about 4 o'clock.

"He didn't recognize me," Feltner said. "But we couldn't stay where we were, so I helped him on for another 200 yards to find shelter. Neither he nor I had matches. I tried that old Boy Scout trick (rubbing sticks to spark a fire), but the wood was wet. . . It was dark by then. . . His head was in my lap. The only thing he said was, 'Don't get mad at me.' Then his feet straightened out and he died."

Feltner said he was "ready to die with him" when he saw the rescue light.

The plane the eight men were on was attached to Hill AFB. It was returning from a flight to the East Coast. It's last stop was a Brooks AFB in Texas. That's where Feltner, Reagan, and Copeland hitched a ride.

Bigelow is an Air Force reservist. So was Probasco. Reagan was hitchhiking to his base in Nevada. Feltner, an Army man, was being transferred from Fort Belvoir, Va., to Fort Lewis, Wash. Copeland was on the way home from his paratrooper base at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Feltner suffered severe frost bite on his feet. Copeland was being treated for exposure and exhaustion. Bigelow and Blount were in good condition and went to their homes.

Feltner is the son of Wiley Feltner whose whereabouts is unknown.

Ten From Here Participate In Conference On Division of Children's Services

The Division of Children's Services, unmarried mother and interstate planning programs were discussed by Marvin Combs, Child Welfare Worker of Perry County at the Perry County Social Service Advisory Committee meeting held at Hazard on November 13.

Mr. Combs viewed the services of the Department of Economic Security to the unmarried mothers as being primarily in behalf of their children. The purpose of this program is to protect the life, health and future development of infants, who, being deprived of the protection afforded by birth into a legally established family are often exposed to undue hazards, he stated. The unmarried mother is helped to make the most satisfactory plan for the child, such as adoption, placement with relatives or keeping the child.

Financial assistance for prenatal and delivery expenses are provided for needy unmarried mothers who want their child placed for adoption through the Department's Division of Children's Services. This program differs from the Department's A.D.C. program, Mr. Combs said, since payment is made directly to the medical facility which the mother enters and not directly to her. The Federal Government provides the funds for this program, he stated.

It was also stated that every effort is made to help the unmarried mother solve her own personal problems so she will not again need our services.

Interstate placement of a child is definitely related to the total child welfare program in the Department of Economic Security in that the service offered coincides with the overall policy of our Department to maintain and strengthen family life. According to Mr. Combs, the purpose of the Interstate Planning and Placement Section of the Division of Children's Services is to make plans for the return to their state of legal residence children who have been abandoned or who have become dependent, neglected or delinquent and as a result need our services to help determine whether a parent, relative, foster parents or an institution can best meet the needs of each individual child. In cases in which a family in a community at a distance can give the child what he needs to a greater degree than can be provided in his own state, the desirability of crossing state lines is accepted. The welfare of the child will be the first consideration by both states and an Interstate Agreement is entered into as the result of the child remaining or being placed in a state where he does not have legal residence, he stated.

Our reason for concern, Mr. Combs stated, is the desire to safeguard the child, the child's family, the foster family and the states involved in the interstate placement of any child. Interstate placements include the following major groups: The return of a child to his own home, the placement of a child in the home of a relative or in foster care, the placement of a child for adoption by a child placing agency, the independent adoptive placements and placement of out-of-state children in licensed child-caring institutions.

Members of the local Social Service Advisory Committee are Judge J. A. Smith, Mrs. Kate Kimberlin, Mrs. T. D. Barker, Monroe Fugate, Bruce Stephens, William B. Campbell, Sam Garrett, Rev. Charlie Deaton, Rev. Winn T. Barr, and James Wolfe.

This Committee appointed by the Governor by authority of the Kentucky Revised Statutes 205.335, serves in an advisory capacity in relation to the programs of the Division of Children's Services and the Division of Public Assistance.

The next meeting of the Committee is scheduled for December 11, at which time there will be a review of all programs discussed during the past year.

Cooper Urges Completion of Surveys

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) today released the text of a letter to General Itzhner, Chief of the Army Engineers, in which the Kentucky Senator urged completion of the surveys being undertaken of five river valleys in Eastern Kentucky. Senator Cooper based his request primarily on the need for protection against the floods which have recurred with tragic consequences in Eastern Kentucky in recent years.

The full text of Senator Cooper's letter follows: Major General E. C. Itzhner, Chief of Engineers, Department of the Army, Washington, D. C. Dear General Itzhner:

Following our telephone conversation of three weeks ago, I am writing to urge that the Corps of Engineers take steps to complete its reports on the following surveys in Eastern Kentucky at the earliest date:

1. The Kentucky River Survey. This was expected to be completed by this summer, but no report has yet been made.

2. Fishtrap and Pound Reservoirs on the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy. I introduced the resolution authorizing the survey in 1954 and funds were appropriated in 1957-58. I have been disturbed by reports that the question of the relocation of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad might hold up, or at least delay, progress on the Fishtrap Survey, but about ten days ago I visited Colonel Skidmore at Huntington and he assured me that the survey could proceed without delay at the same time that studies regarding the location of the Railroad are being made.

3. Devil's Jump Reservoir on South Fork River. The report is now at Cincinnati for approval by the Division Engineer, General Lapsley, before reference to your office.

4. Laurel River Reservoir. At a meeting in Washington last spring called by myself, Senator Morton and Congressman Siler, and attended by citizens of the area, we were assured that the survey would be completed by January 1, 1959. Now I am informed that it may be delayed. I request that steps be taken to complete the survey by January 1, as assured.

5. Upper Cumberland River Survey. I introduced a resolution for a survey in 1957, and funds were appropriated. This survey covers flood protection and reservoir possibilities in the Cumberland River Valley above Cumberland Falls.

There are many reasons why these five surveys must be immediately concluded. As the Corps knows, floods sweep the Upper Cumberland, Kentucky and Big Sandy River systems year after year, and protection of life and property is impossible without the construction of dams and reservoirs. The lack of flood protection is also the chief deterrent to the location of industry in Eastern Kentucky, and consequently, its status as a depressed area.

Further, to put it very bluntly, this area has been neglected by the Congress for years. I recognize that the Corps of Engineers must proceed according to law, and I appreciate the steady work that the offices of Colonel Comm, Stann and Skidmore have done to move these surveys along. But as these surveys have been authorized by resolution of Congress, and appropriations have been made for their completion, it is now the responsibility of the Corps of Engineers to complete them at the earliest possible date. I know of your constant interest and helpfulness in the development of Kentucky's waterways, and I will appreciate very much your looking into these matters and advising me.

With kind regards, I am Sincerely yours, John Sherman Cooper

MY COLUMN

E Hampton Barnette

For the first time in my whole life I attended what I consider the most effective P. T. A. meeting last night at the Parkway Junior High School here in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Frankly, I thought I was out of the education business when my own had finished the university. But I am now back in it, and even going to the Junior High.

About 500 parents, grandpas and grandmas, uncles aunts, and others responsible for their children in school were called "BACK TO SCHOOL NIGHT." We began the schedule at 8:00 p. m., promptly with the principal announcing just as he would to the students the procedure we were to follow.

Well, we have John DuPuy III as our boy in the school. He has seven teachers, and class rooms. They are new, teachers and all. I believe all his teachers have master's degrees except one who has a doctorate. That is unusual to have such a faculty in the Junior High.

We were called to each period our children had by the regular flow of the bell. We sat in the seats where our kids sat, sometimes the seats were pretty small, and our knees bent pretty high as we tried to fit into small seats.
We were subjects for demerits, just as our children are, if we were a moment late. Needless to say some of the pokey parents got their share of demerits, and were assigned to the detention class. Some might have been assigned to the social adjustment class, just as their children are when they get out of line as good citizens. The discipline is as near perfect as I have ever seen.
Students do not roam around down town, play like horses during the class period.

At the fourth period we were ordered to go to the Cafeteria where we would be served coffee in the same style the children were served that day chicken legs, beans, rice, and milk.
Personally I enjoyed the coffee hour about as much as any of the other classes, but it was done on the bell. I had to leave my coffee half-drunk. Now I was not half-drunk, but the coffee was.

To our fifth period, now there was something to make the eyes get slightly bothered. A generous young lady with her graduate degree in mathematics, lovely in personality, she had already captured our 12 year old with her lovely attitude toward her students. He works overtime on mathematics, and so would I for a teacher like that.

Then to science. We squeezed our shanks into those seats, pushed our stomachs down under the top of the desk, stuck our knees up in the air, and were ready for the science lesson. It was great. A truly scientist was the teacher. He had the most complete laboratory
I ever saw, even in High School, even a live snake that some of the women students kept their eyes turned toward. This is another class John loves. They were observing the weather, and all movements of science along with their studies.

Then alas, to the last period about 10:00
P. M., but no one seemed to be tired. I think I could have continued all night, because the interest was so high in this parents' workshop, that no one seemed to want to go home for a TV picture. We had it alive right before our eyes in a modern school so well planned that the students are living the atmosphere, rather than hating to go to school. School can be lots of fun. It can bore the life out of children.

It is rather typical when a student says: "I did not know school could be fun." It can providing the faculty is awake, and has more in their intentions than getting a job done. The coaches, three of them in this school of 1,500 Junior High, were all men with the M. A. degree. Their teaching was about what would be expected of coaches, not much speech-makers, but intelligent men. They pointed out that physical education is one of America's great needs for our youth. I was impressed with the statement one of them made and that was, we grade stronger on the attitude of the students than the things he may learn.

I will guarantee that the 1,500 students that returned to school the next day at Parkway Junior High, went with a better understanding between the teachers and patrons than they could ever have had in any other full year of cut-and-dried P. T. A. speech-making programs.

Another and final evaluation of this wonderful meeting gave the parents and patrons the privilege of making appointments with the teachers for any problems they may have. No problems were allowed under discussion during the Parents' school that night. Florida has a great school system, and the teachers are carefully selected from many states for the faculty.
The starting salary for a beginner is $3,800.00 and runs well into the five thousand dollar mark for class-room teachers with experience and effective services. School here in Fort Lauderdale is perhaps the leading industry.

Grassroots Opinion

GREAT FALLS, MONTANA, LEADER:
"The fuel used to hurl the biggest of these new-fangled satellites up there in space is kerosene.
Of course it's mixed up with liquid oxygen to make it burn faster, but that kerosene is an old friend for a lot of fellows."

"A lot of them will never forget the funny taste when they got dosed with old-fashioned 'cold remedies' like kerosene and sugar and kerosene mixed with goose grease. Wow! That stuff was powerful. Science is just finding out?"

NEW PLYMOUTH, IDAHO, SENTINEL:
"The government takes over an Indiana farmer's tractor to collect a judgment for overplanting wheat and a lot of farmers across the nation realize for the first time that government handouts have claws under the greenbacks... We trade a little of our liberty and freedom every time we invite government to solve a problem for us, whether its in the city, on the farm or super highways to join the two."

BREVARD, N.C., TRANSYLVANIA TIMES:
"Worry is like a rocking chair—gives you something to do, but doesn't get you anywhere."

VIRGINIA, MINN., NEWS: "The freedom we enjoy has its own peculiar perils. It seems often to encourage softness, laxity, self-indulgence, and indifference to responsibilities—A civilization is only as vital and strong as the men who give it life. It must falter when they do. If their moral fiber, their character, grows slack, then their system must surely decline."

BARTOW, FLA., POLK COUNTY DEMO-CRAT: "Presently, there is wide interest in scientific studies... and with good cause... but it has been amply demonstrated that not everyone is equipped to become a genius in science... and more—that not everyone may be considered a budding Caruso or Paderewski, a skilled surgeon, a good dragline operator, a competent racing driver, or even a capable writer, preacher or teacher... all of which leads us to the conclusion that the most interesting study in or out of books is a study of human nature."

OLD TIMER

"Worry is like a rocking chair—gives you something to do, but doesn't get you anywhere."

WHERE TWO OR THREE ARE GATHERED TO- GETHER IN HIS NAME, HE IS THERE

Such a very few were gathered,
In my home, but He was there,
And He gave to us His blessing,
His Spirit was really felt and shared.

Jacob was alone as he went to Harem,
And His pillow was a stone.
Jacob saw the ladder reaching heaven,
Saw the Angels, though he was alone.

Jacob called the place Bethel,
God spoke to Jacob there,
There were no people near Jacob,
Jacob was alone in prayer.

God proved that He was with him,
And He showed him the way,
Showed "the ladder reaching heaven",
Which we are climbing every day.

We have no time to stop and wonder,
Our duty is to just climb on,
The ladder reached from earth to heaven,
Where TRUE Christians all, belong.

Jacob saw the Lord above the ladder,
And the Lord is there today.
If we will really trust Him,
He will guide us all the way.

Let us not be discouraged
Though real climbers are so few,
Trust God and keep on climbing,
Our pay day will soon be due.

Though we alone, like Jacob,
The ladder Jacob saw, still is there,
Trust God and keep on climbing,
To a Mansion, bright and fair.

WHY Do Stores Start Christmas Before T'giving?

That's A Question That Is Often Asked
And It Deserves A Sincere Answer.

We appreciate the spirit that prompts many of the objections to early Christmas shopping promotions.

However, when the reasons for the urge to "Shop Early" are examined, even the most critical agree it's MORE than a problem for stores alone.

So we're happy to take this opportunity to present some of the problems that confront all stores at holiday time.

Every successful store directs its best effort toward perfecting a helpful service to ALL its customers. And since many customers ask stores to make it easier for them to complete their gift shopping before the crowded post-Thanksgiving period, Christmas merchandise and displays are brought forward early to accommodate them.

Scarcely a major store in the nation could cope with the store traffic that would be generated if any part of early Christmas shopping was postponed until after Thanksgiving. Even under present circumstances most stores are strained to capacity during the peak of the season, to maintain the kind of store service all shoppers have learned to expect.

When you recall the extremely crowded conditions of stores the final two or three weeks before Christmas the problem becomes evident.

If no early Christmas shopping were done, this condition would be multiplied many fold. Actually, there would not be enough room behind store counters for enough sales people to serve shoppers during this period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The same condition exists in regard to the children's visits to Santa Claus. Thousands of children and their parents look forward to their annual visit with him, and unless he makes an early appearance, many hundreds would be doomed to disappointment, simply because it's physically impossible to reach him in a shorter time.

Those in the store business know that an extremely large percentage of the Christmas gifts that are selected are items that are in plentiful supply throughout the entire year.

If you were to ask the thousands of retail employees—and as a group they represent one of the largest employe groups in the nation—they would tell you that much of the stress and strain of their Christmas would be relieved if the shopping public would anticipate Christmas shopping throughout the year. Then you'd seldom hear your friends in retailing remark: "I'm simply worn down to my knees
by Christmas Eve."

Granted that the problem is not a one-sided one, it should be recognized that stores are faced with the problems of convenient service to customers, of maintaining helpful employee relations, and of providing a place where those people who wait until the last minute may select gifts for their families and friends.

We are sure that if storekeepers everywhere could chat with you, personally and informally, you would be convinced of their sincerity, and in the true spirit of Christmas they would not be criticized for their efforts to perform a helpful service to theiris hopping public.

Your Home Business Firms are

THE HIGHEST BIDDERS for Your Shopping Dollar

Here are the facts to prove it...

Actually . . . no matter where you live . . . nobody . . . and that means NOBODY . . . can give you more for your dollar than your own home business firms. Let's look at the reason for this advantageous . . . to you . . . situation:

ANY MERCHANT . . . anywhere . . . is ordinarily going to sell goods for some more than he pays for them.

ON AN AVERAGE . . . when you spend a dollar in any retail store . . . here or anywhere else . . . about 70 cents of it pays for GOODS, and about 30 cents goes for rent, taxes, donations, hired help, etc., and a few cents (the national average is about 5 cents) pays the proprietor for his work, and for his investment in goods and equipment, credit losses, etc.

NOW . . . when you spend your dollar at home, you get the same 70 cents worth of merchandise that you would get for it anywhere else.

AND THE OTHER 30 CENTS stays here too, to help you pay for schools, churches, roads and streets; to vitalize the community so your property . . . or your job . . . is worth more; to keep more people here to share civic work and expense, and to serve YOU when you sometimes direly need their knowledge and their skills.

ONLY when you buy in YOUR OWN HOME community do you get back most of this 30-cent retail handling charge . . . and often a great deal more, as your job or your business prospers and your social life broadens with the growth of the entire community.

You know the type.

Two new cars in the garage. A set of matched clubs in the hall closet. Fi so high that only a thoroughbred bird dog (and the neighbors) can hear it. A good portfolio of sound growth stocks . . . and an aim in life like an erratic barometer.

What's he missing? . . . A vague but important something. And less than 18 holes from his mortgaged front door is a man who can surely help him find it—his minister, priest or rabbi.

The Faith that every man can discover through regular worship can help him find an aim that sticks . . . and a good reason for having it. Help when you need it is part of the strength of Faith—a strength that's as strong as you choose to make it.

ELDER GEORGE HAGANS AS I KNEW HIM

by Wallace B. Francis

Much has been said, and good words have been written, about the late, Elder George Hagans. All my life I have heard him preach the gospel. He was born about two miles from Carr Creek, Ky. He was an Old Regular Baptist preacher for some 45 years. At some time during his long ministry, he had preached in 34 counties, and some six states. Through rain, sleet, or snow, or along a hot dusty trail, he always answered his calls, without earthly gains.

For many years Elder Hagans had been Moderator of the Little Home Church, in Knott County. At the time of his death he was Assistant Moderator of The Indian Bottom Association of Old Regular Baptist.

On different occasions, I have heard the late Elder Ballard H. Baker, at some time during a sermon, tell the story of the first time he and Elder Hagans met. (Elder Baker, who lived in Virginia, was one of the greatest leaders, and preachers, in the Old Regular Baptist ranks). In the early part of the century, Elder Hagans went over in Virginia to preach. Elder Baker went on to say he had never heard a colored man preach, and he actually thought the Lord wouldn't call one to the Ministry. Elder Baker continued, "he preached the teeth right out of my head". He was completely carried away with the sermon. From that day, until death, they were the closest of friends.

As a world traveler, I have been in many strange churches, and heard preachers from the four corners of this great big world. In my humble opinion I have never heard a greater preacher than Elder George Hagans was. Like Paul of old, he preached with power and demonstration of the spirit.

The practice of lining a song, or "giving out a song", came over from England. (A Minister, or a church member, reads one line of a song at a time, and all follow by singing it).

When a song is lined IN THE SPIRIT it is practically a sermon in itself. Lining songs is practiced among all Old Regular Baptist today. So many times I have heard Elder Hagans line, and sing, one of his favorite songs; "The Blood Stained Army". No one could sing that song quite as well as he.

I have visited him in his home. On many occasions he rode along with me in my car, talking in his wonderful way (actually I enjoyed having him in my car more than I would have a Governor or a Senator.) We would seldom drive more than a mile until he would, in some way, start talking on spiritual things. He loved to talk about the lands of the Bible, which I had had the pleasure of traveling through. In his easy and humble manner he would talk of contemporary National affairs, and International conditions, and quote scriptures which prophesied all these things.

Elder George Hagans will be greatly missed as one of the foremost leaders and preachers among Old Regular Baptist. Of all the men I have met who walk the earth, he was one of the comparatively few who impressed me deeply.

Space-planned bodies which provide a totally new experience in passenger comfort in both front and back seats are presented by Mercury in its entirely new cars for 1959. In its 20th anniversary models, Mercury offers a brilliant combination of advanced design, mechanical excellence and superior performance and economy. Designed exclusively for the medium-price field, the new Mercury has 15 models in four series, including the only two-door station wagon in the medium-price range. New compound curved windshield and rear window increase glass area more than 60 per cent at the front and 46 per cent at the rear. Mercury's high-compression V-8 engines provide an exact blending of the most desirable features of economy and power. Pictured is the Park Lane four-door Cruiser.

General Buckner Was Last Editor Of Old Courier

—by Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky
Historical Society

Besides being a successful land speculator in Chicago, a lieutenant general in the Confederate army, and governor of Kentucky, General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Sr., also tried his hand at journalism. After some two years of experience in New Orleans, he assumed the editorial chair of the Louisville Courier the first day of June, 1863.

The Courier in that year enjoyed the largest circulation of any Louisville paper, even higher than George Prentice's Louisville Journal, which had been an esteemed member of the Kentucky press for almost four decades.

The first daily newspaper in the West was the Louisville Advertiser in 1826, founded by its editor, Shadrach Penn, eight years earlier. As a Democratic organ, the Advertiser was a strong influence on the Kentucky vote which went for Andrew Jackson in the 1828 presidential election.

In 1830 the Whigs, who had been overmatched by the Democratic press, decided to establish a newspaper of their own under a young and relatively untried editor, George D. Prentice. Prentice soon showed that he was capable of taking the measure of Shadrach Penn.

A favored anecdote describes the discomfiture of Penn the day he held up the press for a New Orleans murder story handed to him by a winged messenger, who represented himself as being from the packet, "Waucousta," five days and 78 hours out of New Orleans. A little later the "taken" editor of the Advertiser learned that not only had the year-old newspaper been dispatched by Prentice, but that the "Waucousta" was a leaky old craft, incapable of leaving its moorage.

The Louisville Courier was founded by W. H. Haldeman in 1844. Haldeman was an excellent manager, but lacked the necessary political color characteristic of nineteenth-century journalists. On November 8, 1868, the two papers, edited by Buckner and Prentice, joined with a third, the Democrat to form, under the dynamic leadership of Henry Watterson, the Louisville Courier-Journal.

General Buckner went on from the Courier to be elected Governor of Kentucky in 1867 by a comfortable majority. He spent his last days at "Glen Lily," his home in Hart County, but following his death in 1914 was reinterred in Frankfort Cemetery.

The brand NEW '59 MERCURY shows you what NEW really means

Americans are looking at the new cars with a new look in their eyes. They're searching for the best combination of all the things that count in a car. The answer in 1959 comes from this completely new 20th Anniversary Mercury.

SEE NEW CLEAN-DYNAMIC STYLING

Distinctive...Mercury has exclusive body design; it is the only car in its class that does not use a body shared by a low-priced car.

RELAX IN A NEW KIND OF COMFORT

No car in its class has more usable room. For easier entrance, doors are wider than those of costlier cars. Up front...9 inches more knee room! The tunnel-hump in the floor HAS BEEN CUT IN HALF! The man in the middle doesn't sit with his chin on his knees. And that lower hump makes room for thicker seat cushions.

FEEL LIVELY NEW PERFORMANCE

Not just high horsepower...although Mercury offers up to 345...but a new kind of response, quiet, obedient, effortless.

ENJOY NEW ECONOMIES

2 out of 3 new-car buyers can afford Mercury. The big special is the Monterey with its new Economy Engine. You get top performance on regular (not premium) gas...it's like "riding free" 10 miles out of every 100.

Add it up and you get everything you want on wheels...the '59 Mercury. We invite you to try this great car...at our showroom.

NEW COMFORT UP FRONT! That tunnel-hump you'll find on other '59 cars is 50% smaller in Mercury. 3 full-size riders can stretch out (including the man in the middle).

Everything you want on wheels

- NEW STYLING
- NEW COMFORT
- NEW PERFORMANCE

Water Commission Starts 15 Month State Program

The Kentucky Water Resources Study Commission has started a 15-month program to find, draft, edit and publish the problems, solutions and legislation needed for future state water requirements.

The commission was created by the 1958 Legislature to study and attain the maximum beneficial use of the state water resources. Chairman of the commission is Robert Lee Bolin, director, Division of Flood Control and Water Usage. Other members are: Jewell Graham, Lewisburg, member of Farm Bureau Agriculture committee; E. F. Wells, Ashland, president, Ashland Oil Co.; Russell Marshall, Frankfort's city manager; and J. M. Smith, Franklin, past president of Kentucky Sportsmen Club.

Bolin said plans for the program were formulated at a recent meeting here with four committees named. They are, fact-finding, drafting, legal problems and educational committees.

The fact-finding committee, Bolin continued, will have eight sub-committees namely, water uses and needs, land use and needs, water quality, surface water, climate, ground water, population, and existing program groups.

Members will be named for the sub-committees within the next 10 days, Bolin said.

A meeting of the fact-finding committee has been set for Monday, Dec. 1, the chairman added, with a joint meeting planned for the morning session and the sub-committee groups to meet separately in the afternoon.

Surrounding states have already surveyed their water needs, Bolin said, "and with the influx of new manufacturing industry, new agricultural methods, we will have to determine the policy most suited to our state."

Folks: Not since the days of the two holer along with those extra thick Sears catalogues, that I have managed to find what I called time on my friends. Time that I just didn't have time to do any thing with, because when you are on your back in a hospital I found out after a few days of utterly doing nothing but just lying there looking at the walls. Of course they say that is when you are getting better from your ailments. I looked out my window each sunny morning and watched the sun spray the first light through the multicolored leaves that had so suddenly changed in such a short period of time. My mind wandered back to this season of the year as a boy, that would have found me back in those good old hills after school and on Saturdays with a flour sack on my back running from one chestnut tree to another, also from one Paw Paw patch to another always trying to find the biggest and the best. Those days came to me more vivid this time than I can ever recall, all because of the time on my hands with nothing else to do but think. Of course you were interrupted many times when your thoughts were at their highest by those good ladies in white, with a job here and a poke there, pill here, thermometer there. Of course that all goes along with being in such a place, that their job to give you this extra ordinary attention that I had not been used to.

Believe me, I learned from the old saying "if some one hits you on one cheek, turn the other." Which reminds me of a joke, during the war one of uncles popular army nurses worked in a ward that the boys had to receive injections, each time she came to this ward she would yell out "Bottoms Up." Christmas time rolled around, so all the patients chipped in to buy her a present which they labeled, "TO THE BEST REAR GUNNER IN THE OUTFIT."

TO ALL

My many friends, it would be impossible in this short span of life to get around to each and all of you to say thanks for your many kind words, prayers and other condolences that was sent to me, also to the many of you that visited with me, to you that sent your best because you were also ill. These many tidings of cheer will always linger in my mind to the goodness which they were intended for.

To you Sister Gabriel, Rev. Barr, Rev. Petrus, Andy Grant that offered prayer in my room so many times. To the many different churches that held a special prayer for me throughout our area. People that I didn't personally know told me so many things that I didn't realize that there so much goodness and the gospel being spread through out our country. Indeed it is something to think about, it makes you take a new lease on life and want to get well in a hurry, yes much faster than you think. To all the personnel of Mt. Mary Hospital, my doctor and all in my humble way I say thanks for all your kindness and consideration during my illness. I remember a letter I received from J. B. Miller the good mayor of Williamsburg that so graciously sent so many things to our people during the flood. He writes, they say mans love for woman waxes and wanes like the moon but the love of brother for brother is as steadfast as the word of the prophet.

Also to you Mrs. E. W. Thacker who I would say is past the three score years for your good words of encouragement. Here is a person that has lost all in such a short time, the flood of 57 took away their business home, almost cost her life. Which since then Mr. Thacker has passed on. Here was a person that has trouble upon trouble heaped upon her, yet she found time to offer words of encouragement to others.

DIDN'T GO HUNGRY

By no means did I go hungry after I got to the point I could eat, had such favorite dishes sent to me by Mrs. Harvey Lusk with one of my favorite foods, winter greens and corn bread. Earl Campbell, Kelly Gay, Walker Taylor kept me in squirrels. Mrs. Taylor cooked me some after getting home with that old-time gravy. Miss Va Beuris with her home made cookies that satisfied a midnight snack when you couldn't sleep. And the many others that I just didn't get down when it arrived by being asleep or in other ways indisposed that you are subjected to while in a hospital. Such as a hot water bottle with a long hose attached to it. To me, this is a major operation in its self.

PASSING OF

Mrs. Atha Ritter Cornett, Mr. Simpson Fugate and Elijah Cornett all occurred during my stay, all of whom were old friends of mine, and their faces I will long remember as they were of the pioneer stock that has made our people known far and wide. Many came and many left the hospital with their ailments cured, others left with part of their limbs removed, others moved on into their haven of rest, regardless of all modern medicines, the Good Man above saw fit to call them unto His fold. That is neither here or there for man to ponder upon. Along with all the sadness and misery of many, at the same time each day new life was being introduced into this world, happy fathers passing out cigars, nurses passing the new born from one to the other ever watchful to see that it was getting all it needed to journey along this way of life. They were giving its initial introduction into a new world. It got to be a habit with me, I would ask the nurses how many last night, they would smile say four up to seven I believe was the highest in any one night, they would reply, they are so cute. I often wondered how these ladies in white always carried on, caring for the young, then always finding time to offer a smile to the older patients as they went about their various duties, that so many I am sure doesn't realize what all they do without a groan of their own. Up and down the halls at all hours day and night. They are no doubt gods chosen for to do so much for the sick and afflicted.

HERE'S HOPING

I will soon be able to bring the ROUNDUP to you as in the past, I will need your help in keeping me posted, now since hunting season is just around the corner, I am looking to you ladies for some tall tales about that husband of yours; and your task in helping him get off to a good start. One wife to another hunter's wife over the phone, said did your old man have any luck on his trip. "SHORE", SHE REPLIED, "HE GOT BACK ALIVE".

Organization For Prospective T'ers

The Student National Education Association, at Western Kentucky State College, is an organization on campus for prospective teachers, and other students interested in education. Membership in SNEA also entitles the student to all the rights and privileges that KEA and NEA afford.

For the past two years, Western has had a larger membership than any other college in Kentucky, and they expect to continue this record in the future. The present membership of SNEA on the hill exceeds 269.

Last year at the KEA Convention, Western had the office of State SNEA President bestowed upon one of its students, Miss Beverly Belcher of Louisville. Because of this honor, Western will act as host for the State Student NEA Workshop on November 15th, on the Western campus.

The member of SNEA at Western from Perry County is Phyllis Robinson, Hazard.

Cordia Tops

Buckhorn 57-38

The Cordia Lions added another victory to their record Friday night as they ran through the Buckhorn team making it four wins and one loss. The Lions led through most of the game, the score being 21-18 in their favor at the half. The Lions practically ran away with Buckhorn in the last half.

Coach George Cornett of the Lions seeing that the game was won took out all the first five men and put in the second team. The B team played a great game and left Buckhorn trailing by 19 points at the end of the game.

Mac Combs came out high point man for Cordia with 13 points. For Buckhorn, Baker made 23 for high point man.

City Government

To Be Studied

By Commission

Frankfort, Nov. 14 — Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, chairman of the Legislative Research Commission, has appointed a committee to study modernization of Kentucky's old laws governing cities.

The 19 members, all having wide experience in municipal and county government, will advise the commission, which will report findings to the 1960 Legislature.

The 1958 Legislature ordered the study to find out whether the State Constitution should be amended to allow a form of metropolitan government for those areas wanting it.

Some topics of the study are annexation, merger of cities, city-county consolidation, metropolitan "federalism," and special districts, such as water and sewer.

Members of the committee are:

Howard B. Hunt, Mortimer Goldsmith, W. Earle Otis, all members of the Jefferson County Municipal Conference; State Senator Scott Miller, Jr.; Jefferson County Judge B. C. Van Arsdale; Henry Ward, secretary of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, and W. S. Milburn, chairman of Alderman, all from Louisville.

Ashtand Mayor Wilburn Caskey, 1958 president of the Kentucky Municipal League; Covington City Manager Joseph Dressman, former Owensboro Mayor Casper S. Gardner, Frankfort Mayor John Gerard.

Paducah Mayor George Jacobs, Campbell County Judge A. J. Jolly, Fort Thomas, former Newport City Solicitor Carl H. Ebert, McCracken County Judge Roy Stewart, Paducah.

Fayette County Judge Bart N. Peak, Lexington; Dr. Kenneth Valandingham, political-science department of the University of Kentucky, Lexington; Boyd County Judge E. K. Rose, Catlettsburg, and Covington City Commissioner Bernard F. Eichhoiz.

THE OLD TIMER
